U. N. ASSEMBLY ENDS SESSION ON OPTIMISTIC NOTE

CONTRIBUTOR TO CAMPAIGN IS WITNESS

Mississippi Builder Says Money May Not Have Been Used To Help Elect Bilbo Man

TERRY STILL PATIENT

Washington, Dec. 16—(P)—B. L. Knost, Meridian, Miss., contractor, told the House investigating committee today that he had learned that a $3,750 contribution he and his partner made to a Mississippi campaign fund in 1941 had not been turned over to the men running that campaign.

He testified that he turned the money over to Edward P. Terry, then secretary to Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.), for use in the unsuccessful campaign to elect Wall Doxey to the United States senate. He added, however, that in recent talks with Robert Gandy and Forrest Jackson, also associated with Bilbo in backing Doxey's candidacy, he had been told they did not get the money from Terry. "It may have been used in the campaign but it never got into their hands," Knost said.

Previously he had testified that in June of 1942 he and Morrissey jointly gave another $5,000 to Bilbo for Doxey's campaign.

F. J. Newlin, still another contractor, also had told of giving $25,000 for the same purpose.

Knost also told the investigating committee that he made Bilbo a $1,200 loan on Nov. 6, 1941, and that Bilbo has repaid only $750 of the sum.

Knost conceded that Bilbo had assisted him in his quest for government contracts, by introducing him to government officials and sometimes accompanying him for interviews.

Attorneys for the war investigating subcommittee, whose hearings have been marked by blows and brickbats, said they expected the once missing Terry to be on hand for today's session, but Dr. H. C. Watkins said at Quitman, Miss. last night that no decision on travel plans for his patient would be made until after a check-up today.

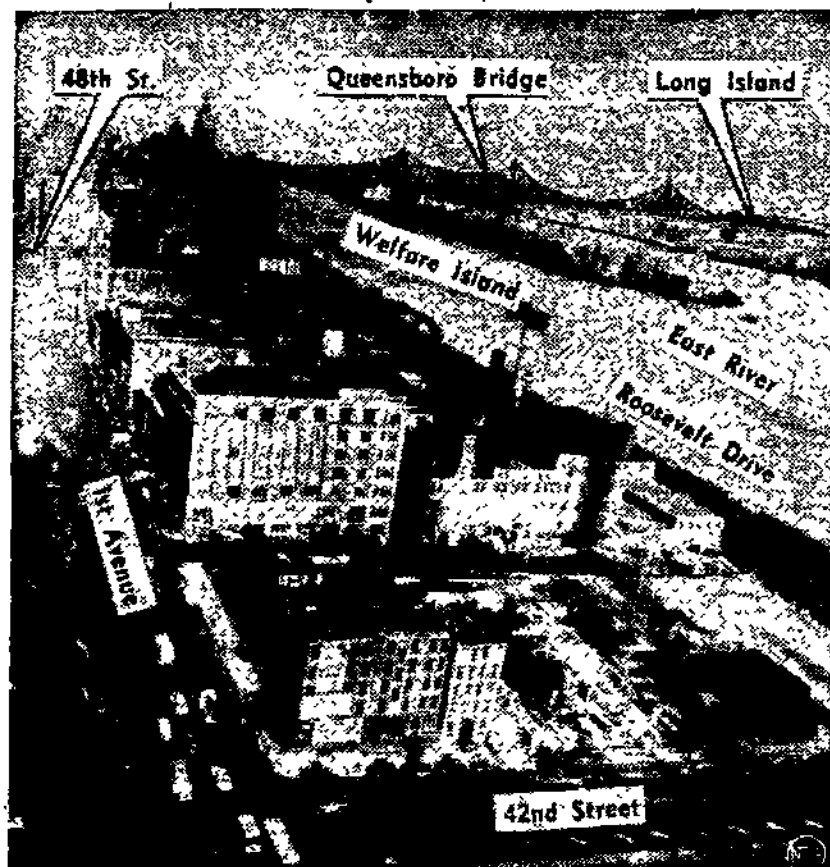

Bilbo himself, who shouted from his seat Saturday that he did not get a "damn dollar" of the $25,000 fund under scrutiny, advised his Republican colleagues in the senate that they might as well drop their plans to keep him from taking the oath when the senate meets January 3.

"They can't stop me at the door," the 69-year-old Mississippi politician told a reporter. "They haven't got a scratch on me. Besides my name is Bilbo."

This was a reference to the fact that because his name begins with the letter "B" the Mississippiian will be one of the first under the customary alphabetical system to take his oath. At that point in the proceedings the holdover membership would find Democrats still in the majority.

Some Republicans agreed privately that it may be no easy task to delay the Bilbo test until he and all others are actually sworn and seated. At that time the Democrats will be outnumbered, 51 to 15.

Site of Proposed UN Home

The 54-nation permanent headquarters committee of the United Nations Assembly has voted to accept the offer of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., of an $8,500,000 skyscraper site in New York City as permanent home of the world organization. Air view above shows site, between 42nd and 48th streets, along the East River, Manhattan. The decision now rests with the General Assembly.

To Cost U. S. $171,000,000 To Feed Germans Next Year

Washington, Dec. 16—(P)—The senate war investigating committee learned today that it probably will cost American taxpayers $171,000,000 next year to feed the U. S.-occupied zone of Germany, while the Russian-controlled area eats home-grown food at no cost to Moscow.

Statements gathered by Committee Counsel Meader during a three-week trip to Europe laid the blame for this situation on the failure of attempts to unify Germany economically under terms of the 1945 Potsdam Big Three agreement.

Blaming the French for blocking plans to set up central German administrative service, the statements obtained by Meader from army of occupation and military government authorities said the United States had been forced to stop dismantling of German plants for reparations—most of which would go to Russia—because of the threatened financial drain on this country.

Beyond that, the statements indicated that even if economic unification of Germany were brought about immediately, it might take two years for the Germans to become sufficiently self supporting to require no further food shipments from the United States.

Meader, whose preliminary report on other phases of his inquiry was criticized by the war department, made the documents available from the committee files at the request of a reporter who asked to see the arm and answers to questions the attorney had posed. Committee Democrats voted against continuing the investigation, but Republican members made Meader's report public.

Occupation officials disclosed in the statements that the Soviets thus far have been unwilling to finance any food import into their zone.

Tribunal To Hear Appeal Of Lewis

Washington, Dec. 16—(P)—The supreme court today agreed to consider a ten-point appeal filed by John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers against their contempt conviction and fines of $3,500,000 growing out of the 17-day coal strike.

The high tribunal one week ago granted a government request for a final, "authoritative" ruling on whether Federal District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough had proceeded correctly when he attempted to head off the strike with a restraining order which Lewis ignored.

Today's action puts both sides formally before the supreme court as appellants—both requesting a final decision on the law points raised by the government and those presented by Lewis and the union.

The justice department's petition contended the government acted as a sovereign seeking to protect the interests of the people, and the Norris-La Guardia and Clayton acts apply to private employers only.

Push of Cold Air Will Bring Still Lower Temperatures

A push of cold air penetrated the northern plains states today, accompanied by light snows, and temperatures fell to near zero in the area.

The southward and eastward movement of the cold air will bring colder temperatures to the great Mississippi valley and lower Ohio region tonight, with the leading in Chicago expected to reach 20 degrees.

There was no official forecast.

BLUM FORMS CABINET OF SOCIALISTS

Anti-Communist Is Given Post of Minister of Defense With Control of Armies

WILL MEET TONIGHT

Paris, Dec. 16—(P)—Leon Blum has formed an all-Socialist cabinet with himself as president premier and minister of foreign affairs, it was officially announced today.

Andre Le Troquer, outstanding anti-Communist in the party ranks, was given the Communist-coveted post of minister of national defense, with control of the armed forces, at home, in the colonies and in the occupation zones.

The remaining key post of the "big three" ministries, that of the interior which controls police and home security forces, went to Edouard Depreux, another moderate Socialist.

Pierre Olivier Lapie, a deputy from the Lorraine department of Meurthe-et-Moselle, was named undersecretary of state for foreign affairs directly under Blum.

The new cabinet-designate, which must await a vote of confidence by the national assembly was summoned to hold its first meeting tonight.

The 74-year-old Socialist, busy since Thursday trying to set up a caretaker cabinet to serve until selection of a permanent government in mid-January, called parliamentary chiefs of the different French political parties to his office shortly after noon to tell them his intentions. He planned to broadcast a statement to the nation later in the day.

A meeting of the Socialist party parliamentary group and steering committee was planned for later in the afternoon to pass on composition of the proposed cabinet, which then would have to be submitted to the national assembly for approval. Blum's selections were said to be Moderate Socialists.

Blum, confronted by "stubborn" dissension between Communists and other parties, reportedly failed to reach an agreement in a final meeting today with Communist Leaders Jacques Duclos and Maurice Thorez. Afterward he consulted with Guy Mollet, Socialist party secretary general, and former Interior Minister Andre Le Troquer, leaders respectively of the Socialist, left and right wings.

West Europe Plagued By Bitter Wnids

London, Dec. 16—(P)—Bitter winds and snow sweeping over Siberia plagued western Europe today, causing acute distress in some war-battered areas.

Snow fell from the northern-most British Isles to Italy. Thousands of Germans had little or no fuel amid the bomb ruins of Frankfurt when the mercury dropped to one.

The cold wave came as Moscow reported that geographers had found the "world pole of cold"—a spot where the temperature had fallen to a record 94 degrees below zero—in a hitherto unexplored mountain section of Siberia.

A broadcast said the place lies approximately 63 degrees north and 43 degrees east.

Several inches of snow fell in many parts of the British Isles. A fuel shortage cut the power supply by five to fifteen per cent throughout England and Wales.

Unusually early cold weather in Holland threatened to paralyze transportation on inland waterways. Snow fell as far south as Milan.

DAVIS HONORED AT A TESTIMONIAL DINNER

Pittsburgh, Dec. 16—(P)—Former U. S. Senator James J. Davis declared last night the United Nations is the world's only hope for international fraternity. He spoke at a testimonial dinner given him by representatives of 300,000 members of the Loyal Order of Moose in Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Davis, U. S. secretary of labor for three presidents, has been director-general of the Moose for 40 years. He declared:

"We, as a fraternal order, are whole-hearted and whole-souled behind the N. N. Fraternal orders such as ours are miniature United Nations."

Lee W. Ryan, of Bradford, was toastmaster.

New Housing Policy Draws Bouquets and Brickbats As Wyatt's Aid Prepares To Quit

Washington, Dec. 16—(P)—The government prepared today to boost non-residential construction by per haps 40 per cent, put a floor-space limit on new homes and give private enterprise a much bigger say in fighting the housing shortage.

With these as policy guides laid down by President Truman, officials set out to run a housing program minus priorities and price ceilings—a program which was catching brickbats from Wilson Wyatt's admirers and bouquets from the building industry.

One of Wyatt's chief aides, Norton Long, prepared to take the cue of his former chief and resign as deputy housing expediter. He denounced Mr. Truman's new housing policy as "not a program at all" but a bid for a "boom and bust" in real estate.

Climaxing a series of White House boudles, Mr. Truman on Saturday night wiped out the $10,000 ceiling on the selling price of new houses and announced that any citizen can build a home for himself—a right that for 11 months only veterans have enjoyed.

Nevertheless the president said the new program will be a "rigorous one" when the government stresses rental housing. The whole new program, with emphasis shifting from federal control to business initiative, "will produce results," he promised.

Henceforth, Mr. Truman ruled, only "a few raw materials" will be allocated—that is, channeled into housing—and anyone who wants to build a home for his own occupancy may do so by getting a simple government permit. This will limit the floor area but will set no ceiling price and require no inspection or building standards.

Store, factory and other non-housing construction which competes with housing for materials soon will be increased, housing officials said. Some of them forecast that the present limit of $35,000,000 a week over the country will be shoved up to perhaps $50,000,000 as of January 1, a jump of more than 40 per cent.

Real estate men and builders generally cheered the presidential move.

Taylor Is Assured President Pro Tem

Hershey, Dec. 16—(P)—Republican state senators, holding their first two-thirds majority in the upper branch in more than a decade, gathered here today to reelect GOP State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor, Dauphin county senator, president pro tempore.

State Sen. Weldon B. Heyburn of Delaware county also was assured of selection for another term as senate majority leader with Sen. O. Jacob Tallman of Lehigh county again heading the Republican caucus.

The Republican senators also were expected to renominate G. Harold Watkins of Freckville as secretary, William J. Ridge of Covington as chief clerk and Charles A. P. Bartlett of Easton as librarian.

S. Edward Hannestad, of Harrisburg, already nominated by Republican house members, for director of the legislative reference bureau, was expected to receive endorsement from GOP solons.

TOTAL KILLED IN NEW YORK TRAGEDY IS 37

New York, Dec. 16—(P)—Crowds of curious onlookers gathered yesterday at the scene of the collapse of a Manhattan tenement last Thursday while workmen braced the standing remnant of walls.

The bodies of the last of the 37 people killed in the crash were removed from the rubble late Saturday.

Meanwhile, police declared unsafe a tenement adjoining the wreckage and ordered evacuation of the tenants. They said it had possibly been weakened by the impact of falling brick walls against its foundation.

Many neighbors and friends of the dead attended St. Elizabeth's church yesterday where special prayers were said at all 10 masses.

CHRISTMAS BONUSES

Schenley, Dec. 16—(P)—2,137 employees of Joseph S. Finch and Co., an affiliate of the Schenley Distillers Corp., will receive Christmas bonuses totaling $108,636. Regional Manager Thomas J. McConville disclosed today.

Meanest Thief Steals Trees From Cub Scouts

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 16—(P)—The Christmas spirits of the Boy Scout Cub Pack at St. Thomas Catholic Church are at a pretty low ebb.

The boys borrowed money from Father John P. McLaughlin to go into the Christmas tree business as a means of building up their depleted treasury. The trees were placed on a lot adjacent to the church.

Saturday night thieves stole the trees.

Stork Step Ahead Of Quaker City Police

Pittsburgh, Dec. 16—(P)—The stork was just a step ahead of Patrolmen Raymond Derringer and Pete Settnik when they arrived at the south side home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nazarek last night.

The officers completed the delivery of a 10-pound girl, however and then administered artificial respiration as the baby's life hung in the balance for 20 minutes.

Dr. Alex Humes, who rushed from a hospital to the Nazarek home by taxi, credited the officers with saving the child's life.

Repairs Will Be Made At East Street

Officials of the borough school district received good news over the weekend in the form of an announcement from the Civilian Production Administration that it had seen fit to approve the proposed rehabilitation project at the East Street building, previously denied and subject of a rehearing during the past week.

It was learned at the high school this morning that work on the project will be started with the last day of school on Friday, to be completed by the reopening of classes on January 6.

The program involves lowering of the ceilings in five classrooms, and installation of acoustical tile thereon to aid with the heating problem, sound effects and to drop the lights to a lower level than heretofore. Six lighting fixtures will be installed in each of the five classrooms, in addition to lighting fixtures attached above the blackboards.

Ludwig Peterson holds the general contract for the job, in the amount of $3,110, and C. Seckley Company offered a bid of $1,645 on the electrical contract.

Mother Is Shot In Argument Over Ashes

South Connellsville, Dec. 16—(P)—An argument over spilled ashes on a living room floor resulted in the slaying of a young mother and the arrest of her 60-year-old husband, District Attorney Fred Brothers reported.

Brothers said he was drawing up murder charges against the man, John "Polk" Jaynes, in the death of his 27-year-old wife, Mona, who was shot in the chest and killed yesterday in the Jaynes three-room home.

Assistant County Detective Lawrence Haggerty said the victim made a deathbed confession in which she named her husband as her slayer. Haggerty said she told this story:

After Mrs. Jaynes' daughter, Pearl, 8, spilled ashes on the floor, the couple engaged in a bitter quarrel during which Jaynes hit her with a poker. Then he went upstairs.

Later, after Mrs. Jaynes began to slice bacon with a broad knife, she decided to go upstairs. As she reached the top of the stairs, knife in hand, Jaynes fired three times with a revolver but two of the shots missed.

EIGHT KILLED IN A BUS-AUTO COLLISION

Eugene, Ore., Dec. 16—(P)—A head-on-automobile collision killed the eight persons riding in the car and injured six bus passengers on a highway 11½ miles north of here.

Two of the injured still were hospitalized today. The dead—five men and three girls—all lived in Oregon. The accident occurred late Saturday night.

pushed Brien's head forward, then—

"After a few seconds, I felt a heavy, dull blow on the back of my neck. I fell over on my right side, then lost consciousness. When I regained consciousness, I was lying at the bottom of the grave underneath some wooden planks and clouds of earth. I had a large wound in the back of my neck, and was covered with blood."

He said he never had been given any form of trial, nor been charged with any offense.

Australia's prosecutor, Mr. Justice Alan James Mansfield of Queensland, named Wartime Premier Hideki Tojo and 11 other defendants as responsible for atrocities against Allied prisoners of war.

PROGRAM TO OUTLAW WAR AGREED UPON

Diplomats Give Solemn Pledge To Support Immediate Steps To Reduce Arms

PROHIBIT ATOM BOMB

New York, Dec. 16—(P)—The United Nations assembly turned over to the 11-member Security Council today the monumental task of setting into motion a program for reducing the armories of the world and destroying the mass destructive weapons of war.

Ending an historical eight-week session at 12:44 a. m., the top diplomats of 54 nations gave the world its first complete hope for outlawing war and then headed for home after writing another chapter in man's long search for peace.

The next regular meeting will be held in New York next Sept. 16, but the assembly may be called into special session in six months to approve a program-wide arms reductions which the Security Council is to plan in detail.

In the vaulted gold-and-blue assembly hall at Rumsfeld Meadow Park, the world's diplomats gave a solemn pledge that their countries would support immediate steps to reduce their armed forces and prohibit the use of the atom bomb.

This was regarded as the most significant achievement of the assembly, which met in the United States for the first time and selected a Manhattan skyscraper site for its permanent home.

But almost equally significant was the attainment of virtually unanimous agreement among delegates, a unanimity that had been conspicuously lacking since the United Nations was born.

For the first time since hostilities ended, delegates agreed there was an increase in cooperative spirit between Soviet Russia and the western powers.

There was evidence in some respects of a softening of Russian policy and the dimming of "Soviet suspicions." Delegates agreed generally that U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes contributed greatly to this by disclosing voluntarily the number and position of American troops on foreign soil—information that Russia sought unsuccessfully to have every nation give to the U. N.

This advancement in United Nations relations was keynoted by Warren R. Austin, chief of the U. S. delegation in the closing hours of the session.

"Starting with the ink and paper charter," Austin told fellow delegates, "we progressed from positive disagreement and skepticism as to the solution of the great problems confronting us, to a newly discovered harmony—to a most unanimous agreement. I think that we have established the essential reality of the United Nations."

And in tribute to the small nations, Austin declared that "the assembly has proved its power to promote a unanimous agreement among the great nations of these things that are so important for the future of mankind."

Behind the delegates as they hurried home today for the Christmas holidays was a job that in pure paper work alone staggered the imagination. The record totaled 4,814 documents, 33,988 pages, 19,532,784 words.

The last item of business on the strenuous 54-day calendar was rejection of a Ukrainian proposal to hold the 1947 assembly meeting in Europe.

Clark To Rule On Sale of Pipelines

Washington, Dec. 16—(P)—Plans for disposing of the $145,000,000 war-built Big and Little inch pipelines, termed "the Muscle Shoals of World War II," headed toward a ruling by Attorney General Tom Clark.

The question is whether permanent use of the 24 inch conduits for natural gas would promote a monopoly in the oil industry.

A majority of the house surplus property committee filed a report over the weekend favoring transport of gas. The two lines run from Texas to New York and Philadelphia.

However, one of the five committee men, Rep. Rooney (D-N. Y.), refused to sign the report, holding that disposal of the pipelines for gas would "Perpetuate the monopoly which the big oil companies now have through their own pipelines and tanker transportation."

Election Approach Increases Anti-Red Activity in Poland

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Something very like the wartime French underground campaign against the Germans is going on now in Moscow-dominated Poland.
Although the government controls the country's resources and major arms supplies, widespread guerrilla warfare, heavy casualties, the number of troops involved and overflowing jails indicate a movement of sufficient size to suggest the possibility of civil war.
The government itself estimates it holds 10,000 political prisoners. Heightened pre-election activity by security police and military courts increases the number daily.
Underground bands are increasing their attacks on villages, state institutions and government officials. The bands apparently consist largely of members of the old underground army which fought the Germans. The government claims they are supported from outside by the Poles who joined the Allied forces in Europe. The necessary secrecy surrounding the guerrilla bands also seems to have attracted anti-semitic and purely brigand forces.
The underground is reported to have killed 15,000 politicians, security police, Russians and plain civilians since the Communist government came to power. The militia alone admits loss of 2,000 killed and 4,000 wounded in fights with the guerrillas, of whom they claim to have killed 2,000. The government has had to use regular army divisions at times to maintain even a semblance of control in some areas.
Refugee Poles have predicted that if free elections were held the government would lose, and that if elections are not free they will be a civil war.
Just what chance the opposition might have of forcing a change in the government is problematical.
What the opposition is sure of is that, under the present system of armed government police-watchers, raids on Polish peasant party headquarters, arrests of its leaders and interference with its press, the election in January will not be free. And the government, should a completely frustrated opposition resort to civil war, would have behind it the strength of Soviet Russia.

MESSAGE FROM PALESTINE, 1946

Nineteen hundred and forty-six years ago there came from Palestine a message of love and joy unequalled in history, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." This year, as a world desperately in need of cheer prepares once again to celebrate the birth of a lowly stable at Bethlehem of Christ the Lord, Saviour of mankind, there comes from Palestine another and totally different, message.

This is a message of hatred and sorrow, of bloodshed and ill will. It comes from Jew and Arab alike. And it is particularly tragic because it intensifies the human suffering which undeniably exists in that cradle of many religions, Holy Land to peoples of divergent faiths.

Jews and Arabs in Palestine fight not only one another, but constitute government authority as well. Perhaps because the British rulers now appear to favor Arab over Jew, the Jewish terrorist underground has blown up buildings, bridges, railroads, taken many lives, cached arms and ammunition in preparation for semi-open warfare—all in a vain effort to impose its will through carnage.

These terrorists be unworthy of the slightest sympathy, did they not aim at the correction of an admitted evil. Jews who were the first victims of Nazi brutality do wander Europe today, as displaced persons, in crying need of the refuge Palestine can offer them; that Palestinian sanctuary has been denied them; their present agony is indeed the responsibility of the entire civilized world. Because more fortunate peoples this past year have ignored these pathetically innocent sufferers, it is by no means surprising that some of those Jews who already have reached the Promised Land should seek to correct the injustice by force.

But, as always, violence has dispelled sympathy. The murder of British soldiers and the slaughter of equally blameless civilians certainly cannot be countenanced. Not even the truest friends of the Jewish oppressed can stomach the acts of would-be Jewish oppressors. And so, as day after day the press has carried reports of additional outrages by the under-ground, the public demand for an improvement of the Jewish lot has been diluted by honest misgivings.

A few days ago, however, Vaad Leumi, the Jewish national council, was joined by Zionist leaders and even by representatives of the Haganah underground army in a denunciation of Jewish terrorists.

Soon thereafter the repudiation was repeated by President Chaim Weizmann at the opening session of the World Zionist Congress convening in Basel, Switzerland. Said Mr. Weizmann: "Against the heroics of suicidal violence I urge the courage of endurance, the heroism of super-human restraint."

The world now has at last the certain knowledge that terrorist slaughter is the work of but a small minority of Jews, vigorously opposed by a united front of responsible leaders. That knowledge, and the campaign for law and order which Zionists pledge, may perhaps succeed finally in opening the doors of the Promised Land to the suffering who wait without—and in returning, in all its implications, to the scene of its birth the glorious Christmas message, "On earth peace, good will toward men."

NOTHING DIVIDES LIKE SUCCESS

There is something to think about in reports that Republican leaders, up from the depths of the political pond and now riding the crest of the wave, are preparing to "purge" GOP members of federal commissions whose party regularity is suspected.

The merit of filling executive agencies with men who serve their party first is, of course, open to question. Aside from that, however, the danger in starting a feud within the ranks should be so clear as to cool the ardor of even the most unreconstructed Old Guardsman. For history has produced many cases, one as recent as last Nov. 5, which suggest that "divide and be conquered" is a reliable rule-of-thumb for American political contests.

The GOP seems ready, even before taking over the White House, to fall victim to that age-old disease of victorious political parties, contentedness. Though no one seems to know why, nothing divides like success. And division succeeds like nothing.

It is gratifying to be able to report that the deer season, so far as Warren county is concerned, passed without serious accident or fatality directly or indirectly connected with hunting.

Dummy---In More Ways Than One

Washington Daybook

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Flashiest, faceted highlight of the town's annual social season promises to be the National Capital Horse Show, introduced for the first time this year at Fort Myer, Va.

With $10,000 in cash awards and trophies and a turn-out of local blue bloods and the best horse-flesh in the country, it vies with White House receptions, embassy balls and the swankiest binges an expansive hostess ever dreamed up.

Since there are only 1,642 seats in the Fort Myer Riding Hall, all of them have to be reserved. This runs into money for matinee performances this year seats cost $4.60 for evening, $6.

Unless otherwise stated, entry fees for each class cost $5, but in the $1,000 stakes they are $50. If an owner slaps his entry all over the program it's likely to run as high as $100 or more a horse.

A LARGE number of resident Washingtonians belong to the "horsey set," members of top-rating hunts in nearby Maryland and Virginia.

While tie or hunting pink is prescribed for the ball when starts off festivities on the eve of the show.

The formal pink coats are much snazzier than the regular hunting pink which is worn while following the hounds. These are cut like tail coats and, incidentally, are worn with white ties too.

The colors of each of the hunts are shown in the satin or velvet collars and often in the lapels of the coats. For example, the members of the snooty Middleburg

Hunt of Middleburg, Va., wear scarlet coats with scarlet velvet collars and lapels of apple-green satin.

Members of the Potomac Hunt of Rockville, Md., wear scarlet coats with blue collars with buff piping and red lapels.

The Piedmont Foxhounds, Upperville, Va., wear scarlet coats with old gold collars and waist-coats, and the Warrenton Hunters of Virginia wear scarlet with white satin collars.

Incidentally hunting pinks are not actually pink.

A PROMINENT figure in the National Capital Horse Show is Mr. Marshall Exmigos, master of the hounds of the Potomac Hunt. He's a tall, dignified socialite with a handle-bar mustache. The story goes that he used to send his laundry to England.

When this year's National Capital Horse Show executive committee was announced there were loud and prolonged cries that most of the members were "imported."

Mrs. Frederick L. Van Lennep, chairman of this year's committee is from Newtown Square, Pa., said to be the best known horsewoman in the country.

No one complains about the naming of Gen. Jonathan M. Fairwright as honorary chairman. "Skinny" is a famed horseman and for years was captain of the U. S. Army Horse Show team.

Horselovers hereabouts are thrilled that big time stuff will be revived at Fort Myer. In the old days cavalry horses went through their paces there—only to gallop away into the dead echoes of the past as mechanized equipment moved in.

a chimney fire. There was no damage.

Don Thurston and his Sizzling Night Hawks, a colored band are playing every night at the Outing Club, it was announced today. Special entertainment is also being provided.

Madison avenue paving project, which calls for the completion of work on that street from Franklin to Russell street, will be started immediately, according to an announcement this morning by Franklin B. Brown, WPA head here.

Great Britain's trouble with Albania over the mining of Corfu Channel, with resultant heavy damage to two British destroyers and the loss of 44 lives, is strangely of a pattern with the U. S.-Yugoslav row over the shooting down of American planes.

In each case Russian satellite governments have taken violent, almost hysterical action (if the British charge is true) in the guise of defending their sovereignty. Age-old principles involving the protection of peacetime travelers have been thrown out the window in inexplicable fashion.

If it is true that Albania deliberately and secretly mined a traditionally free channel. Nobody will know what to expect next. If the mining was done for fear of what passing British ships might observe ashore, the implications would be a cause for even greater anxiety than the act itself.

In one respect the Albanian incident, aside from the greater loss of life, is of greater significance than the Tito affair, for Russian control in Albania is much more direct than in Yugoslavia.

In Yugoslavia there is a communist-dominated government, conducted by Moscow-trained operatives, but one which operates with a certain degree of autonomy. Tito, instead of being merely an executive of Moscow's orders, is more of a collaborator. He follows the line to which he is well-trained, to be sure, but up to the point where he might cross the Kremlin he is his own man. Although he had Russian precedent for getting tough with arrived last January with a staff of experts which one source counted at 400, and the number has been reported greatly augmented since then. There have been additional reports of whole Russian army units and hundreds of officers forming the cadres of the new Albanian army, which is reported to total some 100,000 men out of a total population of 1,000,000.

Fire Chief Appeals For All To Use Care Over Holidays

Fire Chief Albaugh has issued the following appeal for cooperation of all citizens in his campaign to avoid accidents over the holidays:

We are coming to one of the most beautiful and outstanding holidays of the year, Christmas, but there are many who will not be able to enjoy it as a day of rest and worship and happiness. Many will suffer accidents that maim and cripple a large number every day. We know that you would not like to be the one that causes an empty chair at the table of some family—a chair that will be filled after recovery with a cripple. Drive with caution for it is better to take your time and get there a few minutes late than not to get there at all, or cause someone else sorrow for life.

Another safety first slogan that should be heeded is do not walk

PLAN SURVEYS OF ALLEGHENY WITHIN YEAR

Pittsburgh, Dec. 16.—Col. W. E. Lawrence, Pittsburgh, district engineer, told delegates of the Pittsburgh Power Squadron further improvement of the Allegheny river is a necessity at least to a point above Warren. He also talked about the Beaver and Mahoning rivers and said he is making every effort to have the streams improved so that a canal can be built with New York as the central point.

The following officers were elected: Edward L. Solomon, commander; Ralph Metcalfe, lieutenant commander; George Dewar, treasurer; Larry Miller, recording secretary; and Russell Roup, corresponding secretary. Lieutenant Commander Merton Hatfield spoke on the forthcoming celebration, urging every member to help make it a success.

Detailed surveys within a year are planned to determine advisability and method of building a barge canal in the Allegheny river from East Brady to Oil City. The distance from East Brady to Oil City is 63 miles and nine locks and a dam will be required. Ben Kinnear, Warren, president of the Upper Allegheny River Improvement Association, described the decision of the army engineers as a victory for the people of the entire Allegheny valley and said it had raised hopes for an eventual completion of the Allegheny-Gennessee river canal to the New York barge canal at Rochester.

I feel like some other person, and I praise RHU-AID to the sky." This is a genuine testimonial from a man living right here in this vicinity.

A number of interesting reports were presented at the monthly board meeting of the Children's Aid Society, held in the agency's office in the court house.

It was shown that 12 children were checked by the agency physician, Dr. Fago, at the clinic held December 6. Plans were discussed at this time, also, for the Christmas to be provided for children under the organization's care.

BARNES

Barnes, Dec. 12.—When I asked one Barnesite for news this week she replied, "Hunters! Hunters! Hunters!" Illness and hunters practically supply all the items for the Barnes letter this week.

Many bucks have been killed by local and out of town sportsmen, but so far as we have been able to learn, Mr. Vader, who stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rudolph during the first few days of hunting season bagged the finest, a trophy having sixteen points. The deer was shot over in the region of the old chemical factory.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Huston are both on the sick list, having been suffering from flu and bronchial trouble for the past week.

George Conquer has been a patient in the Osteopathic Hospital in Warren, since Monday. He is receiving a thorough checkup, and hopes to come home in a day or so. Kenneth Pierce has been confined to his home for the past week, suffering from a severe case of tonsillitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Alling, of Butler were guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Alling, one day last week, while Charles enjoyed a bit of deer hunting.

Miss Virginia Gorman of Warren was a weekend guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Roberts.

Mrs. James Parrish and Mrs. Earl Ebling of Warren were callers at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Taylor, Saturday evening. Sunday callers at the Taylor home were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Silvis and children and Mrs. Fay Porpowska of Erie.

Our Garden Club of Sheffield was entertained at the home of Mrs. Bert J. Hover in Barnes, Wednesday afternoon, the affair being the regular Christmas party of the club. After a delicious desert luncheon by the hostess, beautiful gifts were exchanged by the members. During the business meeting, a letter from the Brokenstraw Garden Club to the other clubs of the county was read. Mrs. Bowser's paper on Evergreens was much enjoyed. The white mule winner was Mrs. A. D. Bramer, and the contest winner, Mrs. Lettie Hover. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Melvin Bowser in heffeld Nineteen members were present at this meeting answering roll call with Christmas poems.

Stocking Stuffers

Santa Claus is coming to town and, since he is parked just around the corner ready to make his dashing one-night stand of the year, it is well to look into the supply of stocking fillers which his helpers at home must provide. Production and Marketing Administration of the USDA, makes a report that most of the traditional stuffers are in fine supply. You can choose oranges, tangerines or well-polished apples to swell the stocking leg, for a citrus fruit crop one-eighth larger than the previous record of last year is said to be on its way. If you like old-fashioned Christmas tree decorations, you may want to make cranberry chains, but this is a wish most families are not apt to indulge. Although the crop is the second largest on record, prices remain high, too high to encourage wide use of the bright red berry as a mere decoration. In the nuts department, so necessary for rounding out the well-stuffed stocking, choose almonds and filberts, for crops of these two are far above all previous records. Walnuts, on the other hand, are only slightly above average, and pears are decidedly below. Dried fruit nibblers can count on plenty of dried apricots and dates, these yields being considerably larger this year. Figs and raisins for fruit cakes seem not so plentiful. A restricting war food order protects available raisins from use in beverages, just so they may be available for such holiday and year-round eating purposes. "Visions of sugarplums" may be due for a little disappointment, for candies will not be on the plentiful list. However, a few candy canes are seen here and there—so perfect for topping a stocking or tipping the branch of the tree.

These Rules May Save Your Life

EXIT

First note all ways out of your room and location of exits on your floor.

If you suspect fire, act quickly but coolly, notify the telephone operator.

Feel door, if hot, keep it closed and put wet towels or sheets over cracks.

If door is cool, open it a bit; if the hall seems safe, leave by known exit.

If there's much smoke, hold or tie wet cloth on face and crawl to exit.

Don't jump or take foolish chances to flee room; you may be safer there.

Panic results in the death of almost as many people in hotel fires as do the flames themselves. Illustrated above are simple, common-sense rules, compiled by the National Safety Council, that will minimize danger if you are caught by fire in a hotel, apartment or other large building.

SOCIETY

Grace Methodist Choir Has Party

Miss Jeanne Mathyer and Miss Jean Smith were the honor guests at a gay Christmas party which was held in the dining room of the church. The girls will enter the Strong Memorial Hospital of Rochester, New York, for training in nursing in January.

Under the capable direction of the president, Mrs. Edward Blumber and her committee, every item was a success. A delicious turkey dinner was prepared and served by Mrs. Mary Black, Mrs. Philip Maines, Mrs. Bernard Joy, Mrs. Nielsen, Mrs. Lindquist, and Mrs. Hammerbeck. The tables were very festive with their green, red, and white color scheme. Electrically lighted trees were placed in the center of the two sides of the table and a center piece consisted of pines, pine cones, and red tapers. A special feature was the place cards, also adorned with Christmas trees, which were made by Mrs. Hammerbeck. Special guests were Reverend and Mrs. Harold Knappenberg, their son Lasten, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Schor-man.

Games and the exchange of gifts were under the direction of Miss Ruth Karr and Mrs. Florence Anderson. With an appropriate and original poem, Mrs. Anderson presented gifts from the choir to the choir leader, Mrs. Edwin Jack, Jean Smith, and Jeannine Mathyer.

Conewango Unit Christmas Party

Conewango WCTU members held their annual Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Walter Holt, with 28 in attendance. Devotions in charge of Mrs. Holt opened with an instrumental prelude, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," played by Mrs. Lyle Shearer.

The call to worship, "Peace on Earth," was followed by the carol, "Silent Night," responsive reading on "Peace" and the song, "Watchman Tell Us of the Night," read by Mrs. Cable. Sentence prayers were offered by Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Sittler and Mrs. Swanson. "Hark the Herald Angels" was followed by a demitison on "The Perfect Gift" and a talk on "Let Us Turn Toward Peace" by Mrs. Holt.

The president, Mrs. George Johnson, conducted the business session, when the union voted to give $5 to the Warren county nurse to be used in Christmas work and $5 and some canned goods were given to a needy family. A knitted afghan was sent to Mother Moore to be used in a soldier's and sailor's hospital.

A Christmas story, "The First Christmas Roses," was read by Mrs. Bessie Johnson. After a pleasant social time and exchange of gifts, Mrs. Margaret Ostergard and her committee served delicious refreshments.

Formal Will Close Country Club Year

One of the highlights of the coming holiday season will be the formal dinner-dance with which members of the Conewango Valley Country Club will see the old year out and the new year in.

This New Year's Eve event will begin with dinner at eight o'clock, followed by dancing from 9:30 to 1:30 to the music of Harry Sumner's orchestra. Dinner reservations must be made no later than Thursday, December 26, by calling the clubhouse, 1240.

Serving as the general committee on arrangements for the affair will be Ann Walker, chairman of the entertainment committee; Mary Branch and Eleanor Conarro. Other aides and further details of the plans will be announced shortly.

Local Firm Is Erecting Tower For Station

Delay in sending men to this city to erect the 250 antenna tower of Warren's new radio station has caused the management of the station to enter into a contract with the Hammond Iron Works of Warren for the tower's erection. Work was started last week and today workmen have about 60 feet of the tower in the air. It is expected that before the present week ends all of the tower will be in place and the tower connected with the transmission set all ready for operation.

Work on the studio has been completed and all installations there made and tested. The transmission set at the base of the tower has also been put in place and is ready for use. With the completion of the erection of the tower the station will be ready to take the air with programs.

However, no start can be made until the Federal Communications Bureau at Washington gives the word. As soon as all is in readiness the Bureau will be notified and immediately when word is received the station will take the air and open its series of broadcasts.

Arch Blowers' Thermometer Does Its Stuff

Over the weekend the old weather man did a switch with his weather and dumped out a snow storm of some proportions and also sent the mercury tumbling downward in a way that shocked the natives. Snow shovels were produced from the confines of the basement and their scrape yesterday interfered with the slumbers of the late sleepers. About an inch was dumped down and streets were made slippery and sent the highway crews and their cinder trucks to take care of the sharp curves and steep grades.

This morning up on Morrison Run where the storm clouds gather and all of the stops are pulled on the mercury, the famous thermometer of Arch Blowers dropped down to six below zero at 6 o'clock and at 8:30 it showed exactly zero. Here in Warren the lowest registered officially was four degrees above zero.

The weatherman predicts light snow tonight and Tuesday and colder Tuesday night.

Chapter 10

CORRINE felt refreshed when the dance ended. There was an immediate murmur following the applause, and programs fluttered from hand to hand, pencils scratching names, eyes roving to choose, feet hurrying here and there in the rush to fill in blank spaces opposite printed numbers. Corrine was swamped with honest admirers and others who knew their social duties and sought to honor their hostess. Her heart sank as her program passed from hand to hand and David's brown one was not among them.

Then she saw him coming purposefully across the room with long eager strides, she stopped before her, bowed slightly from the waist and said, "May I have my charming hostess' program for a moment?"

"Yes—of course," she faltered, her heart at it again. She hastily rescued the slip of paper from Walter's arm and as he was about to pass it on to Edward Manly, and was dismayed to find only two blank spaces.

The last two dances of the evening? What if David had those two filled on his program? Her pulse skipped a beat. She handed it to him, watched with glowing eyes and parted lips as he compared it with his own, relaxed her tense body slowly when he scribbled his name twice.

"Thanks," he murmured, bowed again, hurried away, leaving her with the tortured impression that he was merely being gallant and polite.

David danced constantly, the delight of her searching eyes, by far the handsomest man on the floor with the scowl gone from his face and his eyes bright with laughter. Corrine's eagerness rode the crest of the wave of merriment as though by its own power eagerness could shove time ahead and bring the moment of her next dance with him nearer.

L O S T in her own dreams, she paid no attention to the passage of time, and the first thing she knew there was a short applause which ended abruptly. The orchestra was moving out for intermission. She swept the room with a wild, searching gaze for David. She saw him talking to Deeva Sortell and went over to them, touching his arm at the same instant that John Benton came up to Deeva and said, "Let's go outside."

Corrine said to David, "Would you like to go out in the garden for a breath of air?" She knew it to be a feeble pretense, remembering that the garden was not much to see at this late summer interval, but a garden, no matter how dead, was romantic, and there would be a sliver of a moon.

"As your service," David answered pleasantly and held his arm crooked for her to slide into.

No small voice warned her that she was testing her strength. She did not see the prim little figure of Amity Pratt or the lids fluttering up and down over her blue eyes in an attempt to catch her daughter's attention. She knew only that she was going out into the moonlight and that her hand clung to David's arm.

The terrace swarmed with couples strolling over the spacious lawn or bending over the pool, faces curiously blanched in the glow of blue lights in the rockery. She urged David on to the narrow concrete paths of the garden.

"The flowers are nearly all gone," she apologized. "I cut the last blossom today." It sounded insane, for David could see that for himself, but it was a beginning.

"It must be beautiful in season," David said in a tone so complacent she wanted to shake him. If he would only look at her, say something which would meet her need in some small way.

The tall boxwood hedge separating the lawn from the garden hid him from the peopled terrace. Corrine stopped suddenly and faced him. "David, couldn't we be friends?" she breathed. His face swam above her, his lids were lowered, looking down into her eyes. His mouth was relaxed.

"What do you think?" His tone was thick, guttural.

"It's all my fault," she cried. "I've been horrid and snobbish. I don't blame you for hating me." "You're a very beautiful girl," he said in that same thick tone. His lips drew flat against his teeth and his eyes lost their softness. He looked away from her upturned face while the old, bitter memories trooped through his mind like black-robed and hooded ghosts.

She touched his cheek with her fingertips to turn his face toward her. She spoke his name softly. "I've got to tell you," she said. Her chin trembled and she waited for the trembling to pass. "Tell you I love you, David. I don't want you to hate me."

"That's only a passing fancy, Corrine," he told her. "Besides, you're engaged to Ross Heady. Don't be foolish."

His matter-of-fact tone brought her swiftly to her senses. She grew alarmed at the thing she had done, which was against all feminine modesty, against Penelope Graham's advice. She sagged against him as if all the strength had gone out of her young body.

David's shoulders drooped. He put his arms around her and rested his cheek against her hair which shone silvery-gold in the faint moonlight.

A sharp voice reached them, calling Corrine. "Corrine! Where are you?" The voice came nearer. They stepped apart quickly and Amity Pratt bore down upon them. "What are you doing here, Corrine? The orchestra has gone in to begin the specialty for your friend and Gilbert," she said frigidly.

The ironical italics on the word friend fired David to anger and he strode ahead of Corrine with the notion of demanding an apology for Madelyn and of going straight into the house to take her home before the dance began, but Corrine caught up with him and slipped her hand through his arm.

"Please, David," she begged. He stopped and looked into her eyes and the plea in them melted his anger. He said, with forced gentleness, "Come on, we mustn't miss the dance."

DRAGONS SUFFER FIRST LOSS

CONSISTENT SCORING PACE SET BY KANE WOLVES PROVES TOO MUCH; NELSON INJURED

Friday the 13th, a day that comes every so often—a day when superstitious people stay in bed all day, proved to be a jinx to the Warren Dragons when they suffered their first defeat of the season at the hands of the Kane Wolves, making the win-loss record stand at 3-1. Beaty gym was packed to witness the clash between the mighties.

Gail Nelson, who gave Warren a scare near the end of the game by getting some bruised ribs while trying an under-the-basket shot, was high scorer for the evening with 13 points to his credit. The score ended, though, when Nelson trotted back on the floor near the end of the game. Hadfield and Saines were tied for second spot in the scoring with 8 apiece.

The Dragons started out at their usual snail's pace and were unable to get going to full force even near the end of the game, while the Kane Wolves played fearlessly in the dragon's den, giving it a hang-up job for 32 full minutes.

The gym was packed to capacity with ample crowds of cheerers from both towns and the big room resounded with the din of the fans urging their teams on to greater heights.

Although Thompson of Kane scored only six points, he showed himself the real star for the Wolves by making some neat steals for his team although he didn't actually make the scores himself. His score in the final minutes started the Wolves on a spree that couldn't be stopped.

The Dragons kept on pretty even terms with Kane throughout the first of the game but at the start of the second quarter Kane pulled ahead to a 12-6 lead. Warren pulled up to eleven on a basket by Dick Reed and field goal and a foul by Gail Nelson. Kane's small guard Saines sunk another but Nelson made another field goal and Decker a foul shot to leave the score at 14-14 at the half.

The teams worked pretty evenly during the next quarter, with Kane holding the slight edge. Decker and Weigel dropped in baskets and Weigel, Nelson and Reed connected for fouls to bring the score at official's time out near the end of the game to leave the score 25-24 in favor of Warren. Nelson got hurt and substitutes went for almost all Warren players and Kane ran wild. Noyssel and Thompson made field goals to put the game on ice for Kane. The streets rang with celebrating after the game.

Tuesday night the Dragons will go to Jamestown to meet the Red Raiders. Jamestown was one of the teams that beat Warren last year, pulling a 39-33 score over the Dragons after Warren had beaten them 26-25 at the beginning of the season. There will no doubt, be a large following from Warren at the game for Warren-Jamestown games are one that Warren fans are reluctant to miss.

STRUTHERS IN VICTORY OVER JIMTOWN FIVE

The Struthers Wells cagers, now battling with Sheffield's O'Connors or second place honors in the Y. City Loop, took time out from their regular league chores to defeat the Jamestown Business College Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. by a score of 57-17. It is remembered that O'Connors lost their first place tie via a defeat at the hands of the leading Bakers team.

The local shop team showed considerable strength in pulling him win over on the Jamestowners, pulling up 33 points in the first half of the ball game. Terry Ruhman, wearing a cage of the local quint showed beautiful form on offense as well as on defense, garnering 24 points from 11 field goals and hitting a perfect 2 for 2 foul record. Bill Weidert followed next in line with the high scores with 7 field goals with a total of 14 points while Tom Juliano hit 9 and "Weasel" Hammerbeck totaled 8 to keep the score. Courson hit six points to be high man for the Business College men of Jamestown.

YOUNGSVILLE EAGLES DROP BOTH JV AND VARSITY TILT AT CORRY ON FRIDAY NIGHT

A last minute shot by substitute forward Long of Corry, won the game for the Corry Jayvees, 25-24, the shot having clipped the net accurately from mid-floor in the last five seconds of play. The Youngsville Eagles, who can be pitied for having been robbed in the last seconds of the Jayvee game, came back in the main game, but fared much worse in this meet, dropping the tilt 36-24.

The Youngsville fans did not witness a time when their Jayvee team was behind until the final minutes of play when Corry pulled up to within one point of the Youngsville lead and then the substitute Long with his one handed shot from mid-court.

The Corry Beaver varsity, which gave the Warren team quite a tussle in their meet recently, worked like a charm and Jack Wilson, a big who gave Warren much worries, tallied eleven points to be high scorer of the game. Stewie Smith of Youngsville and Geertson each tallied seven points to be next high for their individual causes.

Although it is alleged that the game was of the decidedly rough type, no player had to be taken from the game because of serious injury, the main wounds being bumped noggins, etc.

The final seconds took over in the Eagle quarters and covered the opposition 8-5.

Both of Youngsville's games this week will be out of town, the team going to Spartansburg on Tuesday and then to Tionesta on Friday. At the other end of the County, Sheffield will trade games with Ludlow this week. They will play the Ludlow team at home on Tuesday and then at Ludlow on Friday.

BAKER'S QUINT STARTS OUT OVER WEEKEND WITH PAIR OF WINS IN MOUNTAIN LEAGUE

The Baker's Cleaners basketball quint, leaders in the Y City League and member of the Allegheny Mountain Conference representing this city, scored two victories over the weekend in the latter league for their first A. M. C. L. games of the season. The Cleaners traveled to Johnsonburg on Friday night and defeated their team 37-35 and made a stand on the Y. M. C. A. court here last night and came out a 39-22 victor over the St. Marys team.

The game at Johnsonburg Friday night was as close as the Baker's team wants to come to a loss this season, getting the win only by out scoring the Johnsonburg team by two points in each of the third and final periods. The teams at a 14-14 score at half time after Johnsonburg had taken the lead 9-6 at the end of the initial period.

Terry Ruhman was high for the Baker's boys with 20 points. He kept the Warren team in the running by scoring six points of the eight points in the third quarter and eight of the fifteen in the final period. Jim Urbanski hit seven to be the next high for the locals.

Gigliotti punched in 17 points to be high scorer for Johnsonburg.

Saturday night the Baker's went to a decided win over St. Marys led by Dick Finley's 12 point high score. A steady plugging kept the locals out of danger. "Leak" Conroy hit six points for Warren and McMackin sunk six more to be high for the St. Marys team.

With a wonderful start, the local team will stake their 2-0 record to DuBois next Friday night for their third meet of the season in A. M. C. L. play.

Chicago Bears NFL Champs Over Giants

New York, Dec. 16—(P)—The large noise left over today from the National Football League's 1946 World Series wasn't so much about the return of the Chicago Bears to the top spot as it was the fight the New York Giants put up before the big and bruising Bears were able to turn the trick.

Through the years the Monsters of the Midway have practically held a lease on the National League's throne room. So it came as no particular surprise when they went to the head of the class yesterday in the Polo Grounds for the fifth time in 14 years by a 14-14 margin over the Giants and for the entertainment of an all-time top playoff crowd of 58,346, who cooked up a record financial pie of $282,955.25 in gate receipts.

The Giants in general and flip-pin Frankie Fichock, the spearhead from Indiana, in particular, played their hearts out to win and thereby wipe out the cloud over-

DRAGON 2NDS TAKE WOLVES IN "PRELIM"

The Warren High Dragons' second team defeated the Kane Jayvees, 35-31, in the preliminary of the varsity game Friday night at Beaty Junior High school. Ralph Fischer led the scoring for both teams with 13 points while Ted Shattuck made a close second with 10 markers.

The Warren team enjoyed a fine margin over the Wolves but at the end of the game the Wolves made a brilliant comeback but were unable to reach the score of the Dragons before the final whistle. Kane led at the very beginning and the teams traded the lead throughout the half.

The win gives the seconds a 4-0 record for this season and by all indications they will at least equal the record set by last year's team at 18 wins and one loss. The seconds will really have a job on their hands Tuesday night when they tangle with the Jamestown team.

Nine nations have laid claims to parts of the vast frozen mass of the South Pole. They are the United States, Russia, Great Britain, Japan, Norway, Australia, France, Belgium, and Germany.

Berlin, Dec. 16—(P)—The military announced today a special Christmas bonus ration of one fourth pound of cocoa for all children aged one to six years in the U. S. occupation zone. This is in addition to a special ration of one-half pound of sugar for all children and adolescents announced a fortnight ago.

Peking, Dec. 16—(P)—Chinese Communists today captured Chungyang in central Shansi province after a 15-month siege capped by an offensive so fierce the defending garrison, in an obviously erroneous message sent in all seriousness, radioed it thought the Reds were using atomic bombs.

Murfreesboro, Tenn., Dec. 16—(P)—A gun battle of near-not proportions developed at noon today following the shooting of two policemen, reportedly by a negro who later was cornered in a house.

Lake Success, N. Y., Dec. 16—(P)—The United Nations atomic energy commission was said authoritatively today to be considering a report which thus far lacks the essential control features demanded by the United States as the price for yielding its atomic secrets to the world

Youngsville Man Stricken In Hotel Room

Francis L. Hartley, 61, better known to his host of friends at Youngsville as Frank, was found dead in his room at the Fairmount Hotel there last evening about 8:30 o'clock. A physician who was summoned stated that he had been suffering from a heart ailment.

Discovery of his passing was made by the hotel proprietor and other guests when they investigated after hearing a thud like a falling body on the second floor. Chief of Police James E. Chappel was called and investigated with the coroner.

Mr. Hartley son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hartley, was born in Pittsfield township April 3, 1885, and had been a lifelong resident of that section. He had been employed at the National Forge & Ordnance Co. at Irvine.

Surviving are six children, Clark, Youngsville; Ronald, Lander; Mrs. Mildred Enos, Russell; Mrs. Emma Enos, Lander; Russell Hartley, North Warren; Russell, in the armed forces, and Milton, of Sugar Grove. Two sisters and a brother also survive, Mrs. Ray Bull, Youngsville; Jules Hartley, James-town, N. Y., and Mrs. Emma Loveless, Greenville. He was a member of the Stillwater Lodge of Masons.

Services will be held from the home of his son, Clark, in Poplar street Youngsville, Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. Interment will be in the Wrightsville cemetery.

Kill of Deer May Establish Record Throughout the State

Game Protector George Norris is happy that the deer season in this county was marked by a lack of any accidents and that not a hunter passed away from heart attack or other natural cause. The season was enjoyed by one of the largest crowds of hunters that ever invaded the county and it is estimated that over 20,000 enjoyed the shooting in the Allegheny National Forest.

The first two days of the season were marked by excellent tracking snow but the weather for the remainder of the period was too who have been or will be prosecuted.

Many illegal deer have been reported found in the woods by the deputies. They were bucks shot by hunters and they succeeded in getting away only to die later. When found the warm weather had caused decomposition to set in so that the animals were unfit for food.

Hunters generally observed the law in good shape although there were a few non-residents who tried to get away in hunting without a license and some hunted on borrowed licenses and many of them were picked up by the officers.

Three illegal kills of bear were reported in the northwestern district. One of them was near Cherry Grove which was reported to The Times-Mirror some days ago.

From a financial standpoint the hunting season added greatly to the money in circulation here as the hunters spent freely in the stores and restaurants and paid well for their rooms and board. Many of the parties signed up for rooms next year.
